

January 4, 2022

State transportation spending up in 2021

Seven of eight U.S. regions increased transportation spending in fiscal 2020, and all eight areas experienced transportation expenditure growth in estimated fiscal 2021, according to a National Association of State Budget Officers report released Nov. 19. States estimated spending $1.1 billion in federal Covid-19 aid for transportation in fiscal 2020 and $4.8 billion in fiscal 2021, in part to support operation and maintenance of public transit services.

Percentage change in state spending on transportation, by funding type

Source: National Association of State Budget Officers, Federal Transit Administration